Welcome to Spike Dino's daily post for children learning from home.

TOYS; Dolls carriage

Spike loves to play with toys and found this dolls carriage in the Toy exhibit. It looks like it's being pulled by horses. It got him thinking about the carriages at the Carriage Museum and what it must be like to travel in one of them. He remembers the Mayor usually gets to ride in a special carriage and asked the Collections team for a picture.

He wondered what it would be like to travel around in it and where he could go. It got him thinking about other toys that have wheels and how they can be played with. He particularly likes cars especially when he can race them with his friends. Or a rocket that he could fly in!

Activity; make a vehicle for one of your toys. Use junk modelling to make your vehicle. Jar lids and plastic lids make good wheels. How big or small does it need to be? Make sure you choose a toy that will fit in the junk boxes you have. Will your vehicle be a car, a truck, a boat, a rocket, a space ship, or a carriage like these? Ask a grown up to take a picture and share it with us.
